Flaxseed and Free Trade.

A cargo of 150,000 bushels of flaxseed from Argentina has recently been delivered at Duluth, Minn. This cargo was first received at New York and was then shipped by canal boats to Buffalo, whence it was carried by lake to Duluth. Its final destination was Minneapolis. "This is a new departure in the trade," says a Duluth dispatch to the Chicago Post. Yes, it is; a new departure made possible by the Free Trade Tariff schedule of the Underwood law. The flaxseed growers of Minnesota had no such competition from Argentina under the duty of 25 cents a bushel in the Protective Tariff of 1900. The Underwood Tariff cut that duty to 20 cents a bushel. Why? In order to increase foreign and thereby break down American prices. That was the purpose distinctly declared by the Free Trade framers of the Underwood Tariff. Result, a cargo of 150,000 bushels of Argentine flaxseed that should have been grown by American farmers. That is what comes of depriving American farmers of Tariff Protection.—American Economist.

Test of the Tariff is Yet to Come.
When the war is over, that is when the Wilson Tariff will begin to work its havoc in the country. But perhaps we can get it modified before the new and more determined European invasion will begin. Some of the countries of Europe will find it hard to dispose of their surplus goods to other European countries, due to the state of feeling that will exist. Britishers will not buy of Germans, nor will Germans buy of British manufacturers. All over Europe such feelings will abound and it will be necessary for such countries to go to the outside world for their markets. The United States being a creditor nation, able to buy and to pay, will become the special field. The agents of the European houses will overrun the American States. They will put their goods into this country at prices that will drive American manufacturers out or else force down wages to the European standards and the European standards will be lower after the war while the industries are recuperating.
If we want to escape the floods and the wiping out of our own industries we will have to get into a better Tariff position. We cannot do it without modifying our Tariff as it now exists. It is so low now that the waters flow over and overflow if not down us industrially.—Cedar Rapids (Ia.) Republican.

Three Possibilities.

Three possible nominees for the Presidency in 1916 appeared on the same speaking stand at the opening of the Republican Club of Columbus, O., July 31. As the proceedings are reported in the Pittsburgh Gazette-Times, Myron T. Herrick had nothing to say about the Tariff, but urged that partisanship be laid aside in formulating a national foreign policy. Senator Burton, says the dispatch.

"In his address declared, as also did Governor Willis, that the Tariff is to be the big question in the campaign of 1916. He said that with the close of the war, the Tariff issue would be presented to all the nations of the earth in a way that it had never been considered before and that the United States when that time comes should have in power a party that stands flat-footed on this important question."

Of the three speakers Governor Willis was the more vigorous in denouncing the faults of the Democratic party.
"For many months," said the Governor, "business in this country has been hanging on its heels; factories idle and furnaces have been cold." These conditions he charged to the "paralyzing and deadening effect of a Tariff law so drawn as to encourage foreign production while it discourages American enterprise."

Reticence on the Tariff question is not calculated, at a time like this, to promote Presidential prospects. The man who gets the nomination next year will be a man who speaks up for Protection; a man who knows where he stands and who will stand without hitching.—American Economist.

FAILS TO IDENTIFY REEVES

Mrs. J. Ogden Armour Says She Cannot Undergo Ordeal of Prosecuting.

Chicago, Sept. 9.—Mrs. J. Ogden Armour says she, on viewing police suspects, failed to identify Melville Reeves, the "skyscraper suspect" as one of the men who held her up and burglarized her home.

Mrs. Armour also declared she could not go through the ordeal of prosecuting the case of the guilty man, were he caught.

Stranger Struck by Car.

Columbus, Ind., Sept. 9.—August Schmidt, who is said to be a stranger in Bartholomew county, was probably fatally injured when he was struck by a train on the Indianapolis, Columbus & Southern Traction line. He attempted to flag the car without a light and the motorman did not see him until too late to halt the car.

The Fuel That Would Make Owosso Smokeless

Shouldn't you think the above heading alone, especially in view of the fact that it rings absolutely true, would be sufficient to interest every customer of fuel in Owosso. It would make our city so much CLEANER and so much BRIGHTER, a place to live in. GENUINE GAS COKE is the one solution to a cleaner city.

Our fully equipped delivery service and double phone service places at your command the best fuel service in Owosso or any other town anywhere near its size.

With this kind of a product and this kind of a service is it any wonder that our fuel business is going ahead by leaps and bounds? If we can only bring to your notice the many advantages this fuel gives and induce you to try it once we know we will be able to add you to our list of more than satisfied customers.

Any Genuine Gas Coke you receive from us must be right in every particular, and if it is not, we invite you to tell us so. Call us up and we will cheerfully call to inspect it; if not as it should be, we will adjust it to your entire satisfaction.

Right at the TIME you want it is the TIME when you appreciate the value of FUEL that is RIGHT in every way.

Genuine Gas Coke is RIGHT and is made RIGHT HERE in Owosso. By using it, you avoid the disadvantages that are bound to appear during the use of coke mined from distant that has spent many long weeks in transit.

Every ton of Genuine Gas Coke that leaves our yards is inspected by competent men for cleanliness and full weight. But let us say that a bushel or so of breeze (fine dust from Coke) is unavoidable in any ton you receive. Genuine Gas Coke is loaded CLEAN at our plant as it is forked, but in transit over rough roads the pieces rub together and small particles loosen and form breeze. As this naturally settles to the bottom of the wagon, it is shoveled out last and noticeable in your bin on top, and should not indicate dirty coke—to warrant condemning the entire ton.

So many customers use this breeze for banking their fires that it is really an asset instead of a detriment.

When buying Gas Coke you know the maker, you know the superior quality of the fuel, you know the guarantee through a "direct to you" service. To sum it all up, you know you will get satisfaction for IT'S ALL A PART OF GAS SERVICE.

Reliance Cream Separators

OUR Improved Model is positively the only improved and scientifically advanced Cream Separator placed on the market by any responsible and old established manufacturer in the past five years. If you wanted an automobile or a new binder this year you wouldn't be looking up the 1909 models would you?

You would want the splash system of oiling for instance, on your new auto. It's on the Improved Reliance Cream Separator.

You would not want to "oil up" every time you started out. There isn't an oil cup or a lubricator on the Reliance Cream Separator. You cannot go wrong in buying a Reliance. If you own an old style machine it will pay you to discard it or even give it away and install an Improved Reliance.

If you don't own a Cream Separator of any kind and own two or more cows you are standing in your own light. You must be progressive to make a success of life. The progressive way to run your dairy is to own the latest and best Cream Separator known to the trade, an Improved Reliance.

IT TOOK 20 YEARS TO PERFECT THIS SEPARATOR FOR YOU
